Lost at the Zoo by Z vontelle L

"Look," yelled Hippy. There is a parrot. Then Hippy said, "Mum won’t worry if I dash off for a minute.” Them I followed the parrot on the path. Hippy saw the Rhinos, the monkey, the koalas and the butterfly. Hippy got lost in the zoo. “Where am I?” yelled Hippy. Then the nice zoo keeper came. The zoo keeper said, “Follow your footsteps.” Then the zoo keeper wandered away. She followed her footsteps then she found her mum and dad.

Lost at the Zoo by Kira H

“Wow, look at the elephants Mum,” I said. “Can we go and look at the bears?” “Yes Kira, we can do that.” Mum and I walked to the beautiful bears. I see a peacock walking along the path. It looks beautiful. I follow the peacock. Mum stays at the bears and I get lost.

“I’m lost! Help me!” I cried. “I can help you,” a nice zookeeper said. “My name is Crystal.” Crystal put me into the zoo cart. Crystal gave me a soft teddy. “Thank you, thank you,” I said to Crystal. Crystal takes me back to mum. I feel happy.

By Harvey R

In Mostephar the villains were talking about the plan. The spies saw the villains. The spies now know the secret. Nobody is meant to know, but the secret is the villains are planning an attack. The spies do not know what to do, so the spies made a deal with the villains and from then on nobody knew the secret.

Ghostly Hollows by Riley P

Crystal was visiting her grandma at the grave yard. “Mmm,” she said in her head. I wonder why a big hole is in Bob’s grave. They might be building something. Behind her she found something moving... Ahhh. "Oh my gosh," she said, "What will I do?” and she went to hide inside a bush. I am going to be brave and I asked Bob what he wants. "Take care of my cat?” he asked. Crystal said “Do you want any perfume?” “I've got some ghost perfume,” and they were best friends for the rest of their lives.

By Paige G

“Look at that Mum. It’s a gorgeous peacock.” I said.

“Shush please Caitlen. I’m really tired. I just want to go find a brick seat and I want to get some sleep,” Mum said. When Caitlen’s mum got to sleep, Caitlen snuck off. She didn’t really think where she was going. I liked walking in bare feet on sand. I follow the beautiful peacock along the path. The zookeeper found me crying. She gave me lots and lots of tissues. “I want to find my mum.” The zookeepers name is Crystal. “I am lost.” I said.

“What were you doing when you got lost?” asked Crystal. “I was following the beautiful peacock,” I said. Then Crystal lifted me into the Zoo Cart. Crystal gave me a soft teddy. “Thank you, thank you, thank you,” I said to Crystal. I sighed, and then I saw my mum lying on the ground. “Mum, wake up,” I yelled across the universe. My mum woke up in a fright.
“Yes.” I gave the very nice zookeeper a big, big hug. “Thank you, thank you, very, very much.” “Can we go home now Mum?” I asked. “Yes we can,” said Mum, so we packed up.

The Baby Tiger       By Dylan M
Jayde and Dylan went to the zoo and Dylan and Jayde saw the tigers.
A zookeeper came and his name was Jack. He fed them and a baby tiger chased us. It was friendly and we didn’t know. We stopped running because there was a dead end. Then it was my pet and it is Jack’s and Jayde’s too. I love having a pet tiger.

The Lost Boy       By Trey A
Ben is having lunch when he sees a grasshopper, a giant grasshopper. He dashes in the long bush. He forgot that he wasn’t allowed to wander off. He was lost for a long time.
The next morning, his parents had left the small camp.
The police were looking all over the bush for Ben. He had build a big hut so if it rained, he won’t get wet. They found the big hut, but Ben wasn’t there. He had caught the grasshopper. There was gooey mud so they found the footprints, but they were the wrong footprints. They led them back to the camp.
Ben found a river. He said, “Finally, some water.” Up above he looked. There are some apples. He picked them. He saw a rescue helicopter. He yelled for help. The rescue helicopter came down and saved him. He got home safe and sound. He wasn’t allowed to camp again.

By Blaze H
Charlie and I were playing. We got tired. We went to our bunk beds. Someone took Charlie and me to his home. It was scary. His bed is up the other end of the house to mine. It is safe for me to sneak out. It was scary, but I did it for me and Charlie.

Jack the Skater       By Kiet C
Jack the skater is a really good skater. His friend Kiet calls him the J. Skater.
Today is Monday, but on Friday is... THE SKATING COMPETITION.
Jack is practising doing 180’s. Impossible! And anti carspar. Today is Friday.
He practised and he broke his foot. The competition is on in five minutes.
He had to think. He had an idea. “Kiet,” he shouted. “Kiet, the competition is on in two minutes.” Kiet went in the competition.

Wonderland       By Lily I
“Yay.” “Hi girlfriends,” said the twins. “Hey girls,” said their friends. “Mum, can we go play for a bit at the hollow tree?” asked Lily. “Yes. Be careful,” said Mum. “We will,” replied Lily. “I’m going in the hole,” Lily said. “Not without me you’re not,” said Mikayla. “Wait here,” said the twins. “Okay.” They went in somewhere mysteriously weird. “AHHHHHHHHH!!!” The girls screamed. They got really lost. That day they found a mysterious cat called Cheshire. “Oh dear, Lily.” “Makayla.” “Run!” The girls yelled. “Hello!” said Cheshire Cat. “AHHHHH!” The girls squealed at the top of their lungs. They found their way back home. He saw a little kid shark who was just learning to eat fish. He couldn’t handle it. The kid shark swam up to

The Abduction  By Jonah G

On Pluto, it is a very dangerous place. Lots of aliens abduct humans to research so they can find out what they do. Some people don’t believe in aliens. We think the human is still alive.

Planets  By Georgina F

Once there was a girl named Sarah. She loved to look at all the beautiful planets.

She absolutely loves planets so much she had pictures of them and she has some telescopes to look at space at night. One day she was asleep. She was dreaming of herself going to space, but one night she actually was going to space when she never knew. There was a problem. The problem was that she slept with her colourful glasses on in bed, but that night they came off her. They had never come off her face before and she could not find them. Also, it was dark in her room so she tried as hard as she could. One day she really did get stolen and taken to space while she was fast asleep. Some very, very nice people took her by the hand and they found her glasses.

Shark Tale  By Breanna M

One little morning, a man was fishing for fish. He put his bait on his fishing net to catch some fish. The little bait was scared. The bait and said, “Hi, I’m Lenny. It’s okay, I won’t hurt you. I’m just a kid. Look, I will just untie you,” he said. “Lenny, I’m leaving,” said Lenny’s dad. “Okay, I’m coming,” Lenny said loudly. “You’re free now, GO, GO.” The little bait swam away. “Lenny, what did you do?” asked Lenny’s dad. “I ate it okay, and Mum said it’s not okay to hit.” “Mum’s not here.” Oscar was following a shark.

Baby Layla  By Ella T

“Ewww,” I cried. “Mum, Layla pooed her nappy again. It stinks.” “She’s just a baby, she can’t help it. Just change her nappy again,” Mum said.

Layla was born on Tuesday the 2\textsuperscript{nd} of November. She has blue eyes and black hair. “Yucky! Mum! Dad! Layla spewed all over me,” I screamed. It feels yuck. “Mum, put Layla in the cot.” I change into my new clothes. I am happy again. Layla is cute. I am seven years old. Layla is zero years old. I change her nappy.

Evil Attack  By Logan B

Once there was a man called Evil. He loved taking over things. They went to space and then Mars in a fat rocket ship. Then he saw some aliens and they adopted him and raised him.
Then he got his water pistol and shot them. The aliens were scared. They decided to have a war against the human. Evil won the battle. Then they bowed to him.

Carrie’s Adventures  By Grace W

Carrie was a royal mouse. She loves running in the mouse Olympics, nest making, modelling, dancing, being popular but most of all, eating sunflower seeds and dog food. She lives in a royal cage in mouse town. She is so popular and famous, but she is bored being in her cage all the time. One dark freezing night she snuck out and bought a map of a sunflower seed field and camps out for the night. She brings her toothbrush, money, food, clothes, bed, water, a picture of her cage and another picture this time of her guards. She met a wild cat for the first time. She thought they were friendly but still she said goodbye and did not stop because... Carrie Caramel sings in her head, ‘she was a mouse on a mission. Woh, ooo, ooo, ooo I want to see this,’ I thought. ‘I am a mouse on a mission.’ The song ends. She wanted sunflower seeds so badly. She loved them sooooo much. When she came to the sunflower seed field, another cat stood in her way. She waved hello. The cat, whose name was Gorgeous, thought she was crazy, but decided he would pretend to be a very, very nice cat. “Hello, my name is Gorgeous,” the cat said. Then, when the mouse least expects it, SNAP, the cat would eat the famous Carrie Caramel. There would be no more happiness in mouse town. “I would eat everyone, hee, hee, hee,” the cat thought. At that idea, yum, yum, yum. Back at the mouse cage, the guards now knew she was gone. They found a map near a shop and guessed she was in a sunflower seed field. They knew she loved sunflower seeds so much. They knew only one guard would go because there is a cat. They also knew that Carrie had never seen a wild cat. They feared the worst for their dear Carrie, but the cat at the sunflower seed field was still holding on. Then the guard that was picked turned up. He ran out and shouted “Cats are dangerous. They’ll eat you.” So quickly, Carrie ran to her guard (she was too fast for the cat). He told her to get in the cat-drawn carriage. She really jumped in and the footman made the trained cats go their fastest. The sunflower cat yelled, “Don’t take my lunch! I was about to eat it.” Carrie, now safe in the hands of her guards was scared. She got to eat sunflower seeds: lots of them, so she went to bed early, and it was the best sleep she ever had and will be.

By Ethan P

I should go for a walk. Hmmm, I will walk to a science lab. “Hello, can I please see Mr. Evil Pork Chop?” I asked. “Why?” said the lady at the counter. “Because I want to do some science.” “Hello Mr. Evil Pork Chop.” “Hello,” said Mr. Evil Pork Chop. “You aren’t evil,” I said. “No,” said Mr. Evil Pork Chop. “I am not evil, so let’s do some science.” “Okay.” Mr. Evil Pork Chop locked the door. Mr. Evil Pork Chop laughed as I sneezed because of the toothpaste so Mr. Evil Pork Chop picked up the toothpaste. He opened the toothpaste lid. “Did I tell you Mr. Evil Pork Chop my favourite food is pork.” “Oi!” said Mr. Evil Pork Chop. “Can you make me some lamb pork?” he said. “Yummy.” I walk forward. Mr. Evil Pork Chop squirted the toothpaste at me. Achoo. I keep walking forward. I reach Mr. Evil Pork Chop. Eat, eat, eat. And that is the end of Mr. Evil Pork Chop.